

HIGHlight

January 2009

From the President...

Dear PSNM Friends —

Here we are at the beginning of another year. Perhaps this is a good time to think of New Year's resolutions as far as our participation in PSNM is concerned.

Four objectives are listed in our bylaws:

- 1) we are to promote the use of pastel as a fine art painting medium.
- 2) we are promote educational programs for our membership and others who may be interested and to provide opportunities to exhibit our work.
- 3) we are stimulate in the general public an interest and appreciation for the pastel medium.
- 4) we are to conduct activities which are appropriate to the objectives stated.

Although we don't see any reference to how we relate to each other, I would like to emphasize the importance of the encouragement we give to one another. As we all know, it doesn't matter what level of achievement we have attained, there are always those times of discouragement as well as elation. Let's resolve to continue to reach our objectives both as a society reaching out to the public and as individual artists encouraging each other to meet our own personal goals. Let's keep PSNM the friendly, welcoming and supportive organization it has always been.

I look forward to seeing you all back from the Holidays and hope you will be considering how you might help PSNM in 2009. A number of positions are open and need to be filled. I'm excited about a number of ideas under consideration and I'm looking forward to another year.

— Elaine Koehler

Monthly Meeting at the Albuquerque Museum

Saturday, January 10 • 10 - Noon

Portrait Painting with Fred Miller

Being able to paint a realistic representation of a person is something many artists would like to achieve. In this demonstration, Fred will show you key steps to reach that goal. Fred has been teaching portraiture at The Artist Studio for the last seven years. His demo is something you won't want to miss.

2008 Year End Financial Report

Submitted by Peggy Orbon, PSNM Treasurer

Financial Highlights of 2008 National Show

We had a beautiful show this year, with participating artists from all over the country. I heard many positive comments about the show when it was my turn to sit. Financially we lost money, but considering the state of the economy this fall, we did fairly well, with over $6000 in sales.

National Show total income:	$18,811.32
Painting Sales, including tax:	$6,470.45
National Show total expenses:	$21,136.93
Balance/Deficit:	($2,325.61)

Yearend Review

Even though PSNM had a deficit for this year's National Show (see below), we ended 2008 in the black, due to some of the economies we made this year, such as digitizing our newsletter. These savings also enabled us to do things such as donate a couple of scholarship awards to high school students, buy library materials, and purchase a new projector for our membership meetings.

Upcoming expenses for the remainder of the year include $2500 deposit to Masterworks 2009 and the payment of $355.45 in NM gross receipt taxes. Many members are paying their dues and their website gallery page fees this month, so we can expect a fair amount of income from these payments.

Total Income for 2008:	$33,728.05
Total Expenses for 2008:	$31,443.03
Balance:	$2,285.02

Bank Account Balances

Money Market:	$10,550.32
Checking Account:	$9,408.31
Overall Total:	$19,958.63

Thank You, Gail Murray

After serving as our official Program Reviewer for several years, Gail Murray has resigned the position. We will miss reading her well-written, comprehensive and informative reviews.

As of the February issue, Jeanne Weitz will once again be submitting program reviews. If any of you would like to assist Jeanne from time to time, please let her know you'd be available.

December Program Review

by Gail Murray

Marie Meyer's Huechroval: Hue Chroma Value

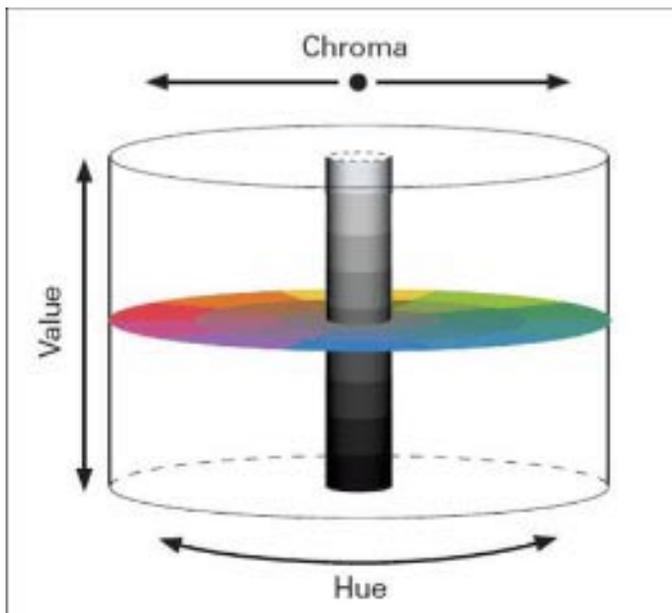

After the annual Christmas Potluck was devoured, members who attended the December meeting enjoyed the presentation by Marie Meyer, the author of a valuable new book, The Multi-Brand Color Chart. Marie, is also the president of Huechroval ("hew-crow-val" - rhymes with "you go gal") Corporation, which is the specialty art book publisher of the book, and she brings several years of experience in art and publishing, as well as a background in science and engineering to the research and writing of The Multi-Brand Color Chart. Marie decided that by compiling this resource, artists can compare every brand and color of pastel to every other brand and color, and help in organizing their pastels.

Marie's book is the first book that helps you understand what the marketplace offers to artists working in pastels! It is based on the Munsell Color System which is explained in more depth at this link:

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Munsell_color_system

Basically, Albert Munsell, also an artist and teacher, was the first person to have the insight to take color and divide it into its 3 attributes of Hue, Chroma and Value.

- Hue: general color family: Red, Yellow, Green, Blue, etc. and determines the temperature (warm, cool) of a color; hue advances or recedes objects
- Chroma: the intensity, saturation, purity of color: diluted vs. pure
- Value: Relative lightness or darkness

Marie made the point that paint can't compete with nature. That is, value in pigment isn't the same as value in the real world. The whitest whites and the blackest blacks are easily outstripped by nature. She spent quite a bit of time discussing the concept of Chroma and its relation to Hue and Value. She compared the Color Wheel, the Hue Wheel, a Cylindrical Color Space and a pattern of hexagonal wedges in Chroma. Terms like high chroma, low chroma, perfect neutrals and zero chroma were addressed. For example, when comparing a painting of Leonard DaVinci to Vincent Van Gogh, she noted that DaVinci mostly painted in low chroma with gold leaf and ultramarine being the most intense colors of his time. Van Gogh, was a high chroma painter, primarily because he had more ready made paints available to him at the time. By understanding the differences of chroma in your palette, you can organize your pastels more effectively. Marie has taken nearly every pastel color from every manufacturer and assigned a color notation to them, and organized them in color charts in her book.

How to use her book:

1. make a note of what pastel colors you already have
2. see what the gaps are in your box – noting what you don't have
3. visualize what is available in the gaps
4. avoid duplication
5. save money by buying from open stock instead of complete sets
6. experiment with new brands

Marie said, "buying sets is a lot of fun, but you often feel bad about trying them and breaking up the set and putting them into the general pastel palette population".

In preparation for evaluating the individual colors, she made test swatches on Wallis paper, noting that there can be subtle variations in pigments of the same color and same maker from year to year. Most pastel manufacturers have their recipes very consistent, but due to some variables beyond their controls, there can be some slight variations.

This book is not sold in stores, and is available exclusively through the Huechroval website. The website is also very good at presenting the concept of this system and the book. I suggest you visit it for more information. You can also contact Marie directly via email.
